

OMEGA life

Omega life is the next generation of home care systems, enabling more comfortable, and independent lives for both caregivers and cared ones.

A discrete solution of wireless buttons and sensors that creates a robust yet seamless care system connected to a smart-phone app, facilitating complex information in an accessible format at your fingertips.

Ambient Assisted Living systems are designed to give those living alone more autonomy, self-confidence and mobility.

Room movement monitoring

Life alerts you of movement within certain premises via the Omega Life App according to your chosen system settings. If the system is set up to sense movement within a certain time frame and this does not occur, carers are notified.

Panic Buttons

Notifications are sent to carers via the App when emergency buttons are pressed in certain parts of the house or on wearable devices, enabling the user to communicate the need for immediate assistance and for carers to take action.

Door and Window Monitoring

Alerts are sent if the system detects unusual use of doors and windows. This allows you to detect unusual movement or the prolongation of such, as well as keeping users safe.

Appliance Equipment Control and Monitoring

Notifications are sent if unusual activity is detected via appliance usage. This will be determined depending on the user's routine, and allows carers to control appliances via the App accordingly.

The App

LifeApp gives carers access and control by displaying information on activity and current location, allowing for the interchange of important information of users between carers in an easily accessible platform, as well as providing emergency, non-emergency and advice helpline contacts.

How does life improve the lives of both carers and cared for?

Easily installed

Set up our seamless home care system with an even smoother installation as all needed components come in your own product box. A plug and play solution that takes less than an hour to install, even on our most complex systems. Upon request, our fully trained engineers can help you out.

Peace of mind

Insert key information and routines on the App and access a versatile care of the day to day life of your loved ones, displaying personalised alerts for both parties, and allowing for more peace of mind. Limit what activities trigger what notifications.

Sharing

Create a group on the LifeApp to share responsibilities and act upon situations faster by having all carers informed simultaneously.

Responsive & Collaborative

Receive alerts and information directly from our systems onto your device, ensuring valuable action time is not lost through third parties. Ensure action is taken as alerts remain active until actioned, as well as allowing you to notify groups to keep updates.

Constant care

Stay informed 24/7, free yourself from uncertainty without overwhelming your loved ones and get on with your own needs through seamless care.

Flexible

Alter your personalised setup according to expanding or changing needs. Because of the way OmegaLife operates, products, systems and App settings can easily be changed to accommodate new requirements.

Protective

Take care of your loved ones while we take care of your system. Technical details and data security is our primary concern, ensuring highly secure systems for all elements of Life.

Future Proof

Trust the Life system and keep your investment a wise one. We are committed to continuously develop and integrate the most suitable equipment and systems, ensuring access to the latest technology.
